

THE DESIGN PROCESS

This is the process of Design Thinking.

You can use the model above to guide your thinking as you complete Rosie's Nutrition Mission. Thinking like a designer can transform the way you approach the world when imagining and creating new solutions for the future.

We hope you will use this process to stop kids from spilling milk when they pour it by themselves and to help other kids understand nutritional labels better. We also hope you can use it for other things that happen in your classroom.

We'd like to acknowledge the, IDEO created, Design Educator's Tool Kit which inspired this Inquiry Unit and gave us the thinking for the model above.
